To Guru:

I received email yesterday that my permanent resident was registered on 2/27/2012 and the approval letter was mailed to me on the same date. My status also showed this under Decision on the USCIS website. Please guru can you tell me how long it takes from Decision to CPO & when am I going to receive my physical card in hand? Any advice would be appreciated.

Hi All:

Please guru help me interpret this e-mail I received this morning in respect of my pending I-485:

The last processing action taken on your case

Receipt Number: SRC119xxxxxxxxxx

Application Type: I485 , APPLICATION TO REGISTER PERMANENT RESIDENCE OR TO ADJUST STATUS

Your Case Status: Decision

On February 27, 2012, we mailed you a notice that we had registered this customer's new permanent resident status. Please follow any instructions on the notice. listed above, or if you have not received a decision from USCIS within the current processing time listed*, please contact USCIS Customer Service at (800) 375-5283 .

Topic: Who file i485 in 03/21/11 but still waiting for approval

Hi all:

I filed 140 & 485 concurrently on 4/27/2011 and my 140 was approved 12/14/2011, but my 485 is still pending. However, to my surprise some who got their 140 approved in January 2012, had already got their 485 approved. This is very frustrating though. Tried to raise SR but was told they are currently processing March 24 in TSC and that my 485 is within the normal processing period, disregarding the 8.3 month 485 processing period on USCIS website. Don't know what else to do, please kindly advice guru.

To Joe123456:

Hello and complements. Try Victoria Chen. I used her for my NIW filing and got approved within a very short time. I am an accountant by profession and she argued my case for me successfully. You won't regret using her. Just e-mail your resume to her for initial free assessment and she will assess it with speed. Wishing u good luck.

To Imm. Gurus:

Please I am on EAD/AP with approved I-140 NIW. I intend travelling out of the US with my AP to return to the US sometimes in January 2012. My I-485 is still pending. My question is, if my I-485 is approved when I am outside the US, will I be able to enter the US with my AP? Please kindly advice. Thanks.

All people I met on trackitt are scientists applying for NIW and I am an accountant by profession up to doctoral level. Infact, I find it difficult to contribute on trackitt becuase am not a scientist. Victoria Chen argued my case for me because my response to the generic RFE was like submitting a new petition. So please contact her for your case. She is too good.

Topic: Looking for HONEST help: Suggest attorney for NIW

Hello everyone:

I am an African culture and finance expert and self petition for NIW in April 2011. I don't have any citation but I have extensive experience. Got generic RFE in September 2011. I used Victoria Chen to respond to my RFE and I got approved 12/14/2011. She was able to argue my case successfully for me and she will do the samething for you. She is the best attorney as far as immigration is concerned because my case was not very strong. I recommend her to all of you. Best of luck to you all.

Topic: RFE Cover Letter needed

To ebsur (7):

I have a similar case as yours in September 2011 when I received a generic RFE for my self petition NIW. As an accountant without a single citation, I don't know where to start to respond to the RFE because it was like telling me to do everything again. I contacted Victoria Chen to draft recommendation letters and cover letter for me to respond to my RFE and she accepted. I got my application approved 12/14/2011. I submitted my response to the RFE on 12/09/2011 and was received by USCIS 12/14/2011. So I will advice you to contact her to help you out. Victoria Chen is just too good. If I can be approved through her firm, anybody can get approved because my case was not very strong but she was able to argue my case for me.

Best of luck to you.

To Megafunnyman:

Congrats for you approval. Please I have a question for you: Did you apply for your EB2-NIW with a job offer. I filed my I-140 and I-485 concurrently in April 2011 with no job offer. This will enable me know the prospect of my application. Thanks in anticipation of your response.

Topic: Regular processing in TSC now is 4 months.....

To all:

Please need help with this question: That is, the current processing time in TSC for I-485 is 4 months & I-140 is 8.6 months, does this mean that I-485 can be approved before approving I-140 if one file his/her application concurrently? I thought I-140 supposed to be approved before I-485. Please kindly help clarify the matter. Thanks.

Topic: EB2 NIW -- Employer Sponsored

To mmbucd:

In my opinion, how can employer prove that your service is in the national interest? I think self petitioning by yourself or your immigration lawyer seems to make sense than your employer to petition for NIW for you. After all if your employer want to help they should have file a Labor Certification for you under PERM. It will be more difficult for your employer to prove your national interest credentials for you, rather than by yourself. However, immigration is evolving everyday and you may be lucky your petition is given to adjudicating officer who reason with your company's argument. Best of luck.

Topic: EB-1A denial-looking for other options

To btam45:

At least to keep you in status, you can file I-140 & I-485 concurrently. At the same time you can submit your application for EAD & Ap, both of which are free if submitted with your I-485. No premium processing for EB2-NIW is allowed, but once you submit your I-485, you cannot go out of status. Moreover, the USCS will continue to extend your EAD as long as your I-140 is pending as india citizen taking into account your priority date.

Filing for I-140 doesn't stop you from pursuing other immigration options and you take advantage of which ever got approved first.

Best of luck to u.

Topic: Out of status while pending I-140

To Masoodabeh:

On second thought, if you are still in college, you can tell your college to apply for OPT for you 3 months before your F1 visa expire. You can then remain on OPT for one year to keep you in status to consider other immigration options. This option is cheaper if you have not already got OPT.

Best.
